Join us for our next NOHANZ Auckland regional event of 2019!

Sharing Oral Histories: The why and the how?

Learn how to share your oral histories by publishing journal articles and creating podcasts.

The event will begin with a discussion about attendees' oral history projects. This will be a great opportunity to learn about the vast range of oral histories underway in Aotearoa. It will also provide an important space to share your projects and workshop ideas with fellow oral historians in a friendly and supportive environment.

This will be followed, after morning tea, by two consecutive workshops and lunch.

Workshop One: Writing a journal article

You will hear from oral historians and authors Megan Hutching and Janine Irvine.

The workshop will cover:

- Insights about the significance of publishing
- How to write a journal article
- Getting your work published
- Key advice on publishing in Oral History in New Zealand

Workshop Two: Introduction to podcasting

Hosted by Sue Berman, oral historian at Auckland Libraries.

The workshop will cover:

- Conducting interviews for podcasts
- Turning your oral histories into podcasts
- Technological advice

We ask for a $5 koha towards catering.

Please RSVP to infonohanz@oralhistory.org.nz

Are you interested in sharing your work?

We are also looking for 3-4 people to speak about their projects for five minutes each. A projector and speakers will be available for you to share sound clips. Please contact infonohanz@oralhistory.org.nz.

All Welcome!
